

WANTS TO ABOLISH STATE EXAMINERS

State and urged a spirit of better buildings and higher-paid instructors. An effort was made during the last session of the Legislature to have the board abolished by bill, but the measure did not get out of the committee. Quite a difference of opinion exists among the members of the State Board of Education as to the real meaning of the resolution offered by Attorney-General Williams at the meeting Tuesday night, and unanimously adopted. As stated in The Times-Dispatch of yesterday, the resolution was designed to take the establishment of the standard of collegiate certificates out of the hands of the State Board of Examiners and vest it in the State Board of Education. Judge Williams himself made this statement last night, and being the author of the resolution, he should certainly know what it means. "My purpose," he said, "is to give the graduates of colleges such a certificate entitling them to teach as the standing of the college may warrant. In this way there will be no incentive to every college to attain a high standard. It will raise the tone of the colleges and at the same time do justice to the graduates."

But the purpose of the board, as I saw it, by adopting my resolution, to take this matter into our own hands and not to leave it where the Board of Examiners left it. In my opinion, the examiners left the matter on a plane which was unfair, uncertain and unsatisfactory."

This statement by Judge Williams shows that The Times-Dispatch's report of the meeting on Tuesday night was absolutely correct, notwithstanding the fact that no newspaper representatives were admitted.

Did Not Understand. But evidently Superintendent of Public Instruction J. D. Eggleston, Jr., did not so understand the Williams resolution. In a statement made in this paper yesterday, he says that "the resolution as voted on did not take out of the hands of the State Board of Examiners the issuance of collegiate certificates, and if the author of the resolution drew it with that purpose in view, the other members of the board were innocent of any such purpose or intention."

Practically a complete single high school book list was adopted yesterday by the State Board. That body labored from 9 o'clock until nearly 3 in the afternoon. A hot fight had been expected, but it terminated in a regular love feast.

The only variation from a strictly single list was that in a few instances the books adopted are different as between city and country high schools. Differing conditions caused the distinction. This was regarded as unavoidable and is allowed by the constitution. It will make some additional cost to the student who moves from city to country, or vice versa, but the student moving from city to city or from country school to country school will find the books in his new school the same.

Has Pushed Fight. Attorney-General Williams has labored for this result during the past few weeks, in season and out of season. He has studied the legal phases of the situation, and has given a large part of his time in the effort to achieve a single list. It was a part of his campaign pledge. He was more than pleased last night, believing that the result of the fight will be a saving to the people of the State during the next session. He estimated that the adoption of not less than $250,000 in his gratification. Judge Williams did not forget to express his approval of the aid given him by Governor Mann.

Besides the adoption of books, some other business was transacted yesterday by the board. The president and secretary of the State Board of Examiners were added to the committee to inquire into changes in the rulings as to collegiate certificates.

The course of study as recommended a few months ago by the committee appointed for the purpose was approved, excepting that four books of Caesar instead of three, and six of Cicero instead of five, were decreed.

Superintendent Resigns. William A. Agardson, Jr., tendered his resignation as superintendent of the schools of Radford, C. V. Shoemaker was elected to succeed him. Mr.

Anderson becomes principal of the school of Bristol, Tenn.

It was decided that the companies publishing the high school books which were adopted should execute contracts and give bonds, to be approved by the Governor and the Attorney-General.

The boundaries of the West Galax School District, in Pulaski county, were slightly changed.

The board decided to pay all teachers' pension funds in July as usual, but in consideration of the recent action passing three-fifths of the salaries to the pension fund, no pensions will be paid in October, excepting in a few instances. Nor will any be paid but these few in January, while part of the next April payment must be passed to the three-fifths fund. Those who have applied this year would have received no money until October in any case, and will get none then.

Statement by Superintendent. Mr. Eggleston's statement as to the issuance of collegiate certificates is as follows:

"Attorney-General Williams has not, so far as I know, been contending with the State Board of Education about this matter. At a former meeting of the board, I suggested that the president and secretary of the Board of Examiners be directed to appear before the next meeting of the State Board and give detailed information as to the course of study as recommended a few months ago by the committee appointed for the purpose was approved, excepting that four books of Caesar instead of three, and six of Cicero instead of five, were decreed."

Before this information was given, however, Professor Arthur Kyle Davis, of the Southern Female College, of Petersburg, appeared before the State Board and requested that those colleges not doing full collegiate work, but doing more work than the high schools, be given a certificate to be known as the "collegiate certificate." The whole matter of the granting of certificates to colleges was gone into thoroughly, and there was an earnest, but most friendly, discussion between members of the board on the one hand and Professor Davis on the other.

Unjust to Colleges. Professor Davis contended that the present name of the certificate given without cause to the State Board doing a grade of work between the full college and the high school does an injustice to these institutions. This certificate is called for the first year a "high school" certificate, and after that time is converted into a first grade certificate upon evidence of successful teaching. The contention of Professor Davis was that the certificate given should from the beginning be called something else than a "high school" certificate. It is merely a question of nomenclature, as Professor Davis declared, and personally I think he has made a point well worth consideration.

"It was evident throughout the discussion that the State Board desired to be fair to the State Board doing a grade of work between the full college and the high school does an injustice to these institutions. This certificate is called for the first year a "high school" certificate, and after that time is converted into a first grade certificate upon evidence of successful teaching. The contention of Professor Davis was that the certificate given should from the beginning be called something else than a "high school" certificate. ## Annapolis Tragedy Victims

MIDSHIPMAN SHERMAN M. NASON.

MIDSHIPMAN GRISBY E. THOMAS.

MRS. MARIE DEAN BOWYER.

(Harris & Ewing Photo.)

Annapolis, Md., June 29.—Standing erect in the waters of the Severn River, the body of Mrs. Marie Bowyer, daughter-in-law of Superintendent Bowyer, of the Naval Academy, was found this morning some hours after the resumption of the search, which continued long after dark last night.

Stretched at her feet upon the river bottom were the bodies of Midshipmen Grishby and Thomas, of Union Point, Ga., and Sherman M. Nason, of Newport, R. I.

Less than twenty-four hours before the finding of the bodies the two midshipmen had set sail in a half-rater for the academy, having been on the river, there they had donned bathing suits. Mrs. Bowyer joined them there. Over her bathing suit she put on a long cloak, which still covered her when her body was brought to the surface.

Mrs. Bowyer, who was the widow of Captain Bowyer's son, Joseph McC. Bowyer, was before her marriage, Mrs. Marie Dean of Pittsburg and Erie, her brother and other relatives, with the exception of her mother, who is traveling abroad, have been notified.

Funeral arrangements have been made. The funeral will take place from the residence of Mrs. Bowyer, 1010 North Main Street, at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The interment will be at the Pine Street Baptist Church this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The interment will be at the Pine Street Baptist Church this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

The bodies of Midshipmen Nason and Thomas will be sent to their homes tomorrow after funeral services at 10 o'clock in the morning.

transfer points to Pacific coast terminals and intermountain territorial points.

In the case of the city of Spokane against the Northern Pacific and Great Northern Railroad Companies and other carriers, the commission held that the present rates charged from Eastern points to Spokane are unreasonable and excessive. The rates established for the future are materially lower—approximately 20 per cent, on both classes and commodities—but they will not be effective immediately.

In the Nevada and Arizona cases, including the Sacramento-Reno case against the Southern Pacific Company, the Railroad Commission of Nevada against the Southern Pacific Company, and the Maricopa County Commercial Club against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, and other carriers, a heavy reduction in class rates is ordered, some of the reductions being as high as 33 1-3 per cent. The commission finds that the existing rates are "practically without precedent or parallel" throughout the United States. The average rate per ton per mile on all ten classes from Sacramento to Reno is 9.16 cents, an unprecedented figure. The class rates between Sacramento and Reno are reduced approximately 30 per cent, the rate on first-class freight being lowered from $1.25 per 100 pounds to 85 cents per 100 pounds. Similar reductions in the class rates are made from Sacramento to other points in Nevada and Utah.

Rates Condemned. In the case of the Railroad Commission of Nevada against the Southern Pacific Company and other carriers, the commission condemns the existing westbound class rates from Eastern points to Nevada. In this connection the commission declares these rates to be the "highest main line rates found in the United States."

Astonishing facts were developed by the commission at its hearings concerning the earning capacity of the Pacific lines. The commission shows that during the last two years the operating revenues of the Southern Pacific Company's system had increased $3,000,000, while its operating expenses had decreased $5,000,000, thus producing an increased operating income of over $12,000,000, or a net increase of about $2,000 per mile of road.

Hidden Peril May Lose Fight for Jeffries

ed, but is there not just a certain risk in building on the third prediction?

Big Bob Armstrong is rabid on the subject of Jeffries, he says the fight will not go ten rounds, because Jeffries is a terrible man who has been putting it all over Armstrong daily.

Trainer Cornell says that Jeffries is tireless, and that he can be made to puff, but when you ask if he has ever sent the big fellow on a really long journey, he will admit that the longest spell of boxing he has given him at one time was fifteen rounds, followed by shadow boxing, chest exercises and rope skipping for an hour.

I asked him if he had ever made Jeffries run ten miles straight either before or after boxing twelve rounds. He said he had not, and did not believe in that sort of extreme work.

Of course, I did not argue, I am here to get information, not to give it.

Sam Berger is a negation. He is it before the Michigan game last fall and lost.

When a man is overconfident he does not bother about the little things, as he would if he knew he could only win by the skin of his teeth. It is a good thing to give the other fellow credit for being better than he really is, and of worrying till the test comes for fear something will take off that fine edge so essential to victory.

Take this morning as a sample of Jeffries' workout. He started out to take road work with Burns and Cornell. They were gone one hour, it was where I could see them all the time, and they never broke out of a good fast walk. I could have kept up with them myself. When they came in Jeffries was wrapped in blankets for a sweat, while the rubber and trainers were around reverently and waited for the great man to permit them to do a little rubbing.

Jeff may be good enough to win. He lost it, but he could have made the victory certain by being less merciful to himself and a little less confident.

IDEAL CONDITIONS FOR ANNUAL MEET

Yale and Harvard to Contest for Supremacy of the Thames To-Day.

New London, Conn., June 29.—The sign of the four ear marks New London to-night on the world's map, for the sons of John Harvard and Elihu Yale are gathering for their annual rowing contests, to-morrow on the Thames. Weather, wind and water permitting, the varsity four-oar crews and the freshman eights will meet between 10:30 and 11:30 to-morrow morning, and the varsity eight-oared crews between 5:30 and 7 o'clock in the evening.

To-night the hotels are full of undergraduates and alumni and their families. Every train to-day discharged its load of partisans. The harbor is a twinkle with the lights of a hundred yachts, and the river, for the most part, the forty oarsmen were early asleep, under the watchful eyes of coaches and handlers.

Captain Wedell, of Yale, won the toss for positions this afternoon and chose the west course, on the New London side of the river, for his varsity eight and four-oared events.

Captain Vaid, of Harvard, took the same course for the freshman eight, the only privilege left him. The prevailing wind on the Thames is from the west, and under normal conditions Yale's position to-morrow will give her crews the advantage of slightly smoother water.

Fair weather, with light to moderate winds to northwest winds, ideal conditions, is promised for the regatta, but Norfolk, Va., June 29.—Theodore Roosevelt was the lion of the hour at the Second Virginia congressional Republican convention, which named H. H. Rumble for Congress to-day.

President Taft also came in for praise and applause, but the name "Roosevelt," frequently mentioned, was the signal for several demonstrations. The former President was referred to by permanent Chairman Triplett as the "genius of the age, who is at home with the philosophy, the scientist, the statesman and the monarchs of the Old World." Temporary Chairman Percy S. Stephenson called him "America's first citizen."

The administration of President Taft was strongly endorsed, the upbuilding of the American merchant marine and the fortification of the Virginia Capes requested. Congress was commended for the enactment of legislation in fulfillment of party pledges, and the Virginia State organization, as headed by C. Bascom Slomp, state chairman, and Alvin H.
